CROOKS MAKE VICTIMS OF PHILADELPHIA COPS

One Policeman Slain When He Attempts to Arrest
Boy Thief.

ROB MAGISTRATE'S HOME.

Burglar Even Invades Detectives' Dormitory to Pick Pockets.

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—The police department of Philadelphia received a jolting to-day it will not forget in many a month. One policeman was killed by a boy crook, another crook entered the dormitory of the detective bureau and had ransacked the pockets of two city detectives before the sleepers awoke and captured him, and still another sacked the home of Police Magistrate James E.
Gorman and got away with valuables worth $1,000.

Thomas Darling, the policeman who was shot and killed, was only 24 years old and had been on the police force less than a year. At 2 o'clock this afternoon he was sent to a pawnshop at Fifth and Vine streets to apprehend William Johnson, 17 years old, who was endeavoring to pawn a watch which the police had sent out a description.

When Johnson saw the policeman enter the loan office he opened fire. The first shot tore through Darling's arm and the bullet lodged over the heart. Darling died while on the way to the hospital.
Johnson fled from the loan office holding off the pursuing crowd at the point of a revolver. He took refuge behind a pile of bricks, from which he was dislodged by a brother policeman who braved the crowd and took Johnson to Central station, where he was held for murder.

Prior to this five detectives were sleeping in their dormitory in the City Hall.
They were sound sleepers. About 5 o'clock this morning Frank Phillips, 45 years old, wandered into the dormitory and started to go through the pockets of the sleeping detectives. He was arrested when one of the detectives awoke.
The police department had hardly gotten over the shock of one of its members being killed and the detective bureau robbed until Magistrate Gorman dashed in and announced that his home had been robbed. The burglars had gained an entrance by jumping a second story window.

This is one of the few burglaries that have been reported in the last twenty-four hours, and as a result Director of Public Safety Porter has started out to "clean up" the police department.
Burglar detectives have been working here, but the report of the burglary has brought the matter to a head.
Old time policemen blame Director Porter for the crime wave. He has made numerous shifts in the police department, sending city and business district policemen to the country and bringing in the countrymen to look after the business end of the city.

tion of $1,200,000 put upon the franchise of the Long Dock Company by the State Board of Assessors. The court held that the extreme franchise value, as shown by the figures before it, was $480,000. Applying the 60 per cent. rule adopted by the board, this would be reduced to less than $300,000, or one-fifth of the board's valuation. The board was directed to correct the franchise assessment for 1910 which was under review.
The Long Dock Company is a spur of the Erie in Jersey City. It has less than three miles of track, the franchise of which was valued by the State board at $2,000,000. The court said it could find no reasonable basis for such a valuation, and that it would set aside the valuation. The method of the State board in fixing the franchise value was to deduct the value of the tangible property from the value of the stock and bonds and to take 60 per cent. of the remainder.
